PREFACE.

THE thirteen sectional parts of this volume have already been issued separately, and are now presented collectively accompanied by a General Index covering the subjects treated. Every care has been taken to keep the work free from errors; but if any have escaped detection it would be deemed a favour if their nature were indicated.

For reasons of economy, information regarding Rural Holdings in 1916-17 was not compiled, and results published in the previous Register should be consulted; also the "Statistical Review" for 1916-17 was not compiled.

The figures should be read in conjunction with the "Official Year Book of New South Wales."

The Government Statistician wishes to express his thanks to the Commonwealth Statistician, to the responsible officers of the various State and Commonwealth Departments, and to others, who have kindly supplied all desired information, often at considerable trouble.

NOTE.—The figures quoted above represent the population of New South Wales within its present boundaries. Victoria was separated from New South Wales on the 1st July, 1851, and Queensland on the 10th December, 1859. The Federal Capital area of Yass-Canberra was transferred to the Commonwealth on 1st January, 1911.

Aborigines.—Aborigines are included in the totals for the last five Censuses. The numbers included were 983 in 1871, 1,643 in 1884, 2,230 in 1891, 4,287 in 1901, and 2,022 in 1911.

* The population of the Federal Capital area (997 males, 727 females, 1,724 persons) is included.

occupation usually or formerly followed by them, where such occupation was indicated on the personal card. Hence in Class VIII, "Dependents," the those cases in which the information concerning the former or usual occupation was not available. For example, a "Farmer" under legal detention would be "Not Applicable" rather than to "Dependents."

* The figures in this column represent distinct children who have attended a State school the whole or some portion of the year, children who may have received instruction at more than one State school during the year being counted only once.

† The enrolment of scholars and the average daily attendance being determined for each quarter of the year, an average of the four quarters is taken, and the result is as stated.

‡ These figures include children temporarily absent from illness or other causes, but excludes those who are known to have left school.

Religious Instruction.—Under the Public Instruction Act (43 Vic. No. 23), which came into force on 1st May, 1880, it is provided that the instruction imparted at Public Schools must be absolutely unsectarian. "Secular instruction" is defined by the Act as including "general religious teaching as distinguished from dogmatical or polemical theology." Provision is made for authorised teachers of any denomination to give religious instruction at specified hours to the scholars belonging to their religion, and separate class rooms are provided generally for this purpose. The total number of visits paid to State schools during 1916 by authorised teachers was 62,076, namely :—Church of England, 33,600 ; Roman Catholic, 1,460 ; Presbyterian, 7,517 ; Methodist, 12,591 ; other denominations, 6,908.

Subsidised Schools.—Subsidies are granted only in the case of children resident in thinly-populated country districts, so far removed from any Public School that attendance is impracticable. The conditions are that where a private teacher is engaged by two or more families in combination, or by a single family with not less than four children of school age, such teacher, if approved by the Minister, may be paid subsidy as follows:—

“In the Eastern portion of the State at the rate of £5 per pupil per annum on the average monthly attendance, such aid not to exceed £50 yearly, and in the Western portion of the State, £6 per pupil per annum, not exceeding the sum of £60 yearly. The Western portion of the State shall be that portion within which living allowances are granted to Officers under the Public Service Board.”

Subsidy may be paid also to a parent as an aid towards the boarding of the children with friends or relatives in a township for the purpose of attending a Public School, at the rate of 6d. per day in the Eastern Division of the State, for each full day's attendance, up to a maximum of £5 per child, per annum, and at the rate of 7d. per day, up to a maximum of £6 per child, per annum, in the Western Division of the State.

Superior Public Schools.—In addition to the above Superior Public (Day Continuation) Schools, established in 1912, there are other Public Schools entitled to the designation “Superior” by having at least 20 pupils eligible to join a fifth class. In these schools, the course of work in English History, Geography, Mathematics, Elementary Science, Drawing, and Manual Work, is that prescribed for the first and second year's course in the High School syllabus. The course of study does not include languages other than English, except under specified conditions. No statistics of this latter type of school are available.

The Teachers' College, Sydney, provides various courses preparing teachers for positions as rural school teachers, primary, kindergarten, and secondary school assistant teachers. Courses range from six months—for rural school teachers—to three and four year courses, leading to graduation in Arts or Science. In addition to academic work at the College, students are given practical work in the Demonstration Schools at Blackfriars, North Newtown, and Darlington, and at selected supplementary practice schools.

Under its Charter, the University of Sydney may confer, after examination, degrees in arts, law, and medicine; but not in theology and divinity. Graduates of Sydney University rank equally with graduates of British Universities.

Under the Act of 1884 women have all University privileges; and degrees may be granted to women in all branches of knowledge.

Faculties.—There are now four Faculties: Arts, Law, Medicine, and Science. A Dean is appointed by the Senate to each Faculty from time to time for a term not exceeding two years. There are also Departments of Engineering, Dentistry, Veterinary Science, Agricultural Science, Economics and Commerce, and Military Science.

Museum Library.—The library attached to the Australian Museum contains many valuable works of reference. Presentations are continually received. Although essentially a scientific library for the use of the staff, it is accessible to students under very reasonable restrictions. It contains about 22,300 volumes. The Museum publications consist of Catalogues and Records containing papers by the staff on current scientific work connected with the Institution.

Rain-gauge.—The rain-gauges are circular, 8 inches in diameter, and with rim 15 inches above ground. Two similar gauges, placed on the ground 6 feet apart, are used; the larger record is taken. The pluviometer results are from a gauge of the same diameter as the rain-gauge, 4 feet above ground.

No. 17.—Rainfall during 1916.

Notwithstanding the beneficial rains which occurred in June, the rainfall during the first half of 1916 was not sufficient for stock and crop requirements, and drought conditions prevailed over a wide area of the State. During the second half of the year the rainfall was much above the average, especially in December, when the crops were damaged considerably by severe hail- and wind-storms. Owing to the copious falls during the latter part of the year, the total registrations during 1916, with very few exceptions, were considerably above the average.

Similar particulars for each month are as follow :—

January.—With the exception of a few scattered places situated principally in the Riverina, the rainfall was considerably below the average. The largest rain deficiencies occurred in the Metropolitan, the North Coast, and the Southern Tableland districts, but, notwithstanding this dryness, agricultural conditions were not unfavourable, as a series of thunderstorms over the eastern half of the State, at the end of the month, precipitated beneficial general rains, which in many instances reached large and gratifying totals.

The temperature was rather above normal during the first fortnight, but in the remaining period was cooler, and on the whole moderate.

February.—The rain was generally light and scattered, although in the eastern districts the falls were fairly satisfactory, and on the coastal area as a whole, were sufficient for immediate requirements. The districts including the North Coast, parts of the highlands, the coastal areas, the North-West Slope, and a few places in the Riverina, received falls in excess of the average; but elsewhere the registrations were considerably below normal, especially throughout the whole western portion of the State, embracing the Western Land Division, and the greater part of the Central Land Division, in which there was a serious deficiency. Extreme dryness existed in the far Western Plains, and drought conditions prevailed.

March.—The rainfall was very poor and scattered in almost every part of the State, and only a few places situated on the coast and the highlands received amounts in excess of normal. In many parts of the Western Plains no rain occurred, and on the North-Western Slope very few stations west of the mountains received more than 40 per cent. of their usual March supply; on the whole there was a decided deficiency.

April.—In contrast with the dry weather conditions prevailing in previous months, copious rains were experienced over the whole of the Eastern part of the State, chiefly owing to monsoonal influences, and the resultant totals were well above the average. The largest falls occurred in the North Coast and the Hunter and Manning districts; at Camden Haven, the average was exceeded by more than 10 inches. In the Western Plains the rain was light and scattered, and, with the exception of the area embracing the northern border districts east from Wanaaring, the totals recorded were considerably deficient.

May.—The rainfall was again extremely poor and light in character. A substantial shortage had been experienced over large areas, especially in the Western Plains division for several months, but during May this unwelcome feature was peculiar to almost the whole of the eastern districts as well. A small area, which included the seaboard of the Hunter and Manning division, and parts of the Northern Highlands, benefited substantially, the total falls recorded at the various stations generally exceeding the average.

June.—Almost the whole of the State was favoured with most beneficial rains, and not for many months past have such good results been reported, nor have the falls at so many stations exceeded the average. The best falls occurred west of the watershed, and the whole of the inland territory, with the exception of a small area around Broken Hill, participated in an unusually good rainfall. In the Central Tableland some exceedingly heavy totals were registered, notably at Orange, Hill End and Carcoar, where all previous June records were surpassed. On the area east of the mountains the rain was light and unimportant, especially in the Coastal and Metropolitan districts, where the amounts received were mostly deficient. The total recorded at Sydney since the beginning of the year revealed a shortage of over 11 inches.

July.—The rainfall was satisfactory in almost every district; in some divisions the total falls were exceptionally heavy. The extensive area lying between the mountains and the South Australian border benefited most substantially, the records in every instance being above the average. In the north-western districts, the totals were even greater, the falls at some stations being fivefold compared with the normal. The principal storms were monsoonal, and generally approached from the west, with the result that the precipitation, although more copious than usual over the Southern and Central Tablelands, was not specially favourable to the districts east of the watershed. Useful and substantial rains occurred in that area, however, but the falls received throughout the Coastal districts were on the whole below the average.

The temperature registered over the greater part of New South Wales was mild, but in some places severe frosts were experienced.

August.—Favourable rains were received throughout the State, and enhanced largely the prospects of an excellent season. Falls were recorded over almost the total area, being in many instances considerably in excess of normal. Amongst the favoured districts were the South-Western Slope, the Central Tableland, and the Central-Western Slope, and the central districts generally received more than the usual amounts, floods resulting in some of the southern rivers. Although most of the stations situated in the western district and along the seaboard recorded less than the general average, the shortages were not of a serious nature. The rain in the metropolitan area was very poor, and again failed to reach the average.

Temperatures registered during the month showed an upward tendency, particularly in the north-coast district.

September.—Bounteous rains were recorded, with the result that by far the greater portion of New South Wales received totals in excess of the average. At several stations in the coastal division exceptionally heavy downpours were recorded, notably at Byron Bay and Ballina in the North Coast, and at Bateman's Bay, Jervis Bay, Moruya Heads, Nowra, Crookhaven, and Bega in the South Coast, where all previous averages for the month were, in most cases, largely exceeded, whilst in the southern parts of the State, west of the highlands, floods were in evidence. Deficiencies were recorded, however, in part of the Metropolitan area, the Hastings, the Hunter, and the Manning divisions, the Northern and part of the Central Tablelands, most of the North Coast, and in scattered places elsewhere; but with few exceptions the shortages were unimportant, the total area participating in most useful rains. The weather experienced during the first fortnight was, on the whole, very dry, but in the remaining period of the month southerly monsoonal conditions prevailed.

October.—A continuance of the moist conditions of the previous month was experienced; copious rains were recorded generally, and the averages were exceeded in almost every part of the State. At some stations, particularly in the South Coast and the Southern Highlands, the falls were considerable. The only districts in which a deficiency occurred during the month were the Northern Tablelands, part of the North Coast, and a small area between the Darling and the Lachlan Rivers, but the shortages were unimportant.

The temperatures were affected by the prevailing rainy and cloudy conditions, and were, on the whole, rather below the average for the middle of spring.

November.—A widespread rainfall was again recorded during the month, as, with the exception of the districts in the vicinity of Wanaaring and Broken Hill, and a few isolated places elsewhere, the totals exceeded the average throughout the whole of the State. Remarkable and unseasonable temperatures for the end of spring were experienced, the cool conditions of October being continued with only occasional intervals of normal weather. The storms, which were most severe in the first and third weeks, were distinctly of a winter type, both as regards character and direction followed. Violent winds on the coast attaining the force of gales were a feature of the earlier disturbed period, while many destructive hailstorms were reported and falls of snow occurred on the highlands.

December.—Bounteous rains were again recorded over almost the whole of the State, and the averages generally were exceeded. The falls were particularly heavy on the North-Western Slope, and in the south-eastern corner of the State, where some exceptionally large totals were recorded; but in isolated places on the South-Western Slope and the North Coast slight deficiencies were noticeable. December was the most notable month of the year on account of the exceptional activity of the storms experienced, and with respect to the proportion of the State sharing a rainfall in excess of normal. During this period also severe thunderstorms, with destructive falls of hail, were reported from many stations. In consequence of these adverse weather conditions the harvesting operations were delayed considerably, and large areas of wheat crops were either damaged or destroyed entirely.

Schedules to Constitution Act.—The Civil List under the Constitution Act (18 and 19 Vic., chap. 54) provides for the payment of salaries, pensions to certain officials, and State Aid to public worship. The third and fourth schedules and supplements thereto provide for the salaries of those enumerated in the table; the expenditure under Schedule C—which represents payments made to Ministers of Religion who were in receipt of State Aid previous to the passing of the "Grants for Public Worship Prohibition Act"—will cease on the death of existing beneficiaries.

No. 23.—Annual and Total Loan Expenditure, 1842-1917.

NOTE. The difference between the actual Loan Expenditure stated below and the Public Debt, as shown in No. 26 and following tables, is due to the fact that the outstanding debt represents the gross amount sold, while the expenditure is the net amount after deducting discount and expenses of flotation and allowing for debit balance of Loan Account.

No. 26.—Public Debt Statement, 1855-1917.

NOTE.—The difference between the amounts outstanding at the close of each year does not, as a rule, represent the actual increase or decrease in the Debt. Repayments of loans are generally effected under the head of renewals, and in following out this practice, it is usually found necessary to float the redeeming loan some time before the due date of the maturing loan; hence the liability appears twice in the Debt Statement till the bonds or stocks are retired.

\* London Agents.—Operations connected with the issue and inscription of Stock are conducted by the Bank of England and the London and Westminster Bank. The former charges  $\frac{1}{4}$  per cent. per £100 Stock on all loan issues, and £350 per million annually for the inscription and management of Stock, including the payment of the half-yearly dividends, while the latter charges  $\frac{1}{4}$  per cent. and £150 per million respectively for similar services.

Local Agents.—The Bank of New South Wales and the Commercial Banking Company of Sydney, Limited, transact all Government banking business. The former acts as Financial Agent for the State in Victoria, and also undertakes the payment of the half-yearly dividends on Local Debentures and Funded Stock. The Treasury, however, in local loan issues, directly conducts the operations connected with the issue of New South Wales Funded Stock and Treasury Bills.

* Overdue and unrepresented.

† Approximate—rate not definitely fixed.

NOTE.—Until the close of 1870, the proceeds of loans negotiated in the State were placed to the credit of the Consolidated Revenue Fund. From the beginning of 1871, a new system was adopted, and a separate fund established for each loan floated on and after that date. The first loan treated under the new conditions was that for £374,900, floated in 1871, since redeemed; and no alteration took place till 1879, when all the separate funds were amalgamated under the authority of the "Loan Fund Amalgamation Act," and the subsequent flotations have been carried to the "General Loan Account."

NOTE.—The above figures are compiled from returns supplied by the Sydney Harbour Trust, and differ from those in preceding tables on account of the inclusion of the tonnage of vessels engaged in trade between State ports and Sydney, and of vessels which proceed to Newcastle for bunker coal, but which do not report at the Customs on return to Sydney.

NOTE.—Mortgages of Registered British Vessels are under the Imperial Merchant Shipping Act of 1894. The mortgages are divided into two classes—one in which the ship is the sole security Principal Sum, and the other in which advances are made on the security of what is termed "the Account Current"—an Account Current being in most cases secured by land and other properties, in addition to shipping. The mortgage deed is generally executed for the full amount of the advance.

NOTE.—All certificates must be renewed at least every twelve months. For a six months' certificate the charges for vessels not exceeding 50 tons are £1; over 50 and under 100 tons, £2; over 100 and not exceeding 300 tons, £3; and an additional £1 for every additional 300 tons or part thereof, with a maximum fee of £10. For a twelve months' certificate the charges are double these rates, with a maximum of £20. The charges for motor-boat certificates are £1 to £2, according to length. Under the provisions of the Navigation Act, 1901, all vessels, steam or sailing, passenger or cargo, require certificates.
